Good Evening, I understand there is a meeting to discuss the potential funding of the LIMF program in the morning. My name is Greg Cosgro and I work for a large mechanical firm with approximately 300 employees. We have been awarded a few projects this past year through the LIMF program and would like to express our thoughts on this program compared with others. We have been installing heating equipment through the energy program with as many agencies possible as it can be difficult to keep this many employees busy full time. This program stands out to me as the most organized from start to finish. From the initial walkthrough to the job sign off, everyone involved works on a professional level and takes pride in the outcome. All bidders are also passionate of final product and friendly to compete with. This program not only helps companies like ours keep employees busy, but let's them shine in what they do best. Installing heating equipment has become an art, and programs like this allow us to showcase our end result. Working with Ken and New Ecology not only allows us to show clients a great product, but ultimately save low income properties with minimal funding an amazing amount of fuel by upgrading these inefficient power plants. The industry has changed greatly in this country over the last 10 years and we are proud to be changing with it. We are grateful for programs such as this to emphasize the meaning of saving energy for our country. Most of the sites are using equipment well beyond its expected life cycle because they can not afford to replace it. Which leads them to contacting a small outfit with minimal knowledge to come in and replace what they have with similar inefficient equipment when it fails. The LIMF helps them in making a better decision and minimizing wasted expenses. Thank you for having us as part of this program, and we hope it continues both for our sake and the sites.
