

Energy efficiency is one of the most strategic ways to reduce energy demands, especially dirty energy. Goals for energy efficiency must be strengthened, not weakened, and there should be incentives for conversion exclusively from fossil fuels to renewable energy (not from one fossil fuel to another). Therefore, I do not support the draft Three-Year Energy Efficiency Plan as it is now written.

Sincerely,

Lilly Lombard